Marble-finished main public lobby of new post office building at Yates and Government, which is expected to be ready for overall occupancy in about six months. Picture on right shows Fred Rushworth, of William N. O'Neil Co. (Victoria) Ltd., which supplied glass and handled glazing work, peering through slit in "observation galleries" to enable investigators to keep a watch on all actions in sorting room.

READY IN 6 MONTHS

Post Office Opening Tardy

The mammoth $2,000,000 new post office building at Yates and Government will probably be ready for occupancy in about six months. Delay beyond anticipated May completion is interior finishing.

This was indicated today by workmen and officials of Northern Construction Ltd. on the new building, which takes up nearly a city block.

Probably the outstandingly unique feature in the post office section of the 132 x 247-foot building—which takes in the basement and the first two floors—are special "observation galleries." There is a closed-in "catwalk" from which post office investigators can keep a close watch on the handling of mails, as well as on the public.

On both sides of the catwalk there is a continuous half-inch slit for the "observers" to watch through. There are also special glass slots on the floors almost every four feet to help further observation of movements and actions the shoulder-high slits do not bring into the range of vision.

OFFICE SPACE

The two upper floors of the building will be occupied by other government offices, such as customs and the department of transport. Now in a separate building they may take over offices in the new building it was learned today.

The main public lobby is finished in marble. This faces on Government Street.

The basement furnace room is taken up mostly by two large and one smaller furnaces which are fed by automatic coal stokers.

USE HOME PRODUCT
Asked by Victoria Times' representatives "why not oil?" a couple of workmen pointed out that the government building had oil heating.

"They're supporting home products," one added.

Only one of the big furnaces is used for heating during the winter months. A workman estimated that one of the big ones, operated around the clock, used up about two tons of coal a day.

Red Cross Would Probe Charge of Germ Warfare

GENEVA, March 13 (AP)—The International Red Cross committee said today it has agreed to investigate Communist charges that United Nations forces are waging germ warfare against Communist troops in Korea.

State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States asked the investigation. He has denied the Red charges.

Paul Ruegger, president of the Red Cross committee, said the Red Cross societies of Hungary, Poland, Romania and Bulgaria also sent protests to the committee against alleged use of bacteriological weapons in Korea.

Ruegger sent identical messages to Acheson, Korean Communist Prime Minister Kim Il Sung and Gen. Peng Te Hsueh, commander-in-chief of Chinese Communist troops in Korea, saying the committee would investigate the germ war charges if it is "assured of co-operation of authorities on both sides of the front."

Ruegger's message to both sides noted the U.S. has denied using germs to start reported epidemics of bubonic plague and other diseases in North Korea.

The Communists have been reported recently taking drastic measures to halt the spread of disease, inoculating all troops and civilians.

The Chinese and Russian press and radio have made detailed charges alleging U.S. planes have dropped bombs containing disease germs which were loosed from hidden compartments when the bombs blew up.

Ruegger advised both parties to the Korean conflict that the international committee was prepared to set up a commission under its direction "composed of persons who will offer every guarantee of moral and scientific independence which could be offered by experts who have highest qualifications, especially in epidemiology."

The International Red Cross committee has been unsuccessful so far in obtaining Communist authorization to work behind the Red lines in assisting prisoners of war. The last message asking for such authorization was sent only a week ago.

BEEF PRICE UP 10 CENTS IN CITY

Stocks Adequate Until Week-End

Housewives in Greater Victoria are paying up to 10 cents per pound more for beef than they paid last week.

Average wholesale price is still 63 cents, a price that was expected with the arrival of B.C. interior beef on the market, and which has held firm despite threats of shortages.

Retail prices vary considerably throughout the city and district, depending on the store and type of cut, but most dealers contacted reported prices up 10 cents.

Packing houses report adequate stocks of meat on hand for the remainder of the week at least.

B.C. Ban on Meat Imports May Be Eased This Week

Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman said today British Columbia's ban on meat imports, imposed two weeks ago when foot-and-mouth disease broke out in Saskatchewan, may be eased Friday night or Saturday morning.

"We are just waiting for word from Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner," Bowman said. "He will be letting us know about the inspection service he is setting up in Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver. When that is done, the ban probably will be eased."

Bowman announced in the legislature Wednesday some meat may be allowed into B.C. "in a few days" on a permit basis.

Canada sought clarification in Washington today of the United States embargo on Canadian livestock and meats imposed as a result of the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in southern Saskatchewan.

Meanwhile, discussion continued over interprovincial embargoes on livestock movement.

Three Canadian agricultural officials were in Washington trying to find out what processed meats the United States will allow on its markets and whether Canadian livestock can move through the U.S. for shipment if it goes in bond.

But the Canadians may also take up with the U.S. agricultural officials the question of whether Canada's embargo on import of U.S. livestock is legal.

The Canadian embargo was imposed to keep the Canadian market for Canadian produce but some Americans think it may violate a trade agreement between the two countries. This pact—the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—provides that the signatories will not impose import restrictions which would reduce the effect of negotiated tariff reductions.

Meanwhile, speculation continued about interprovincial embargoes on livestock movement.

Manitoba's ban on Saskatchewan and Alberta cattle likely will remain for a while, Agriculture Minister F. C. Bell said in Winnipeg, Wednesday, that Manitoba won't consider lifting it for at least "seven to 10 days."

He told the legislature about his talks with Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner on the embargo. The conditions under which Manitoba would lift its ban were:

1. No further outbreaks of the disease in the Saskatchewan quarantine area or the buffer zone around it.
2. Consideration by the federal government of a floor price for livestock.
3. Assurance that Manitoba cattle could move east.

MEXICAN MEAT MAY REPLACE CANADIAN

Lift U.S. Ban on Mexican Livestock Sept. 1 to Keep American Price Down

MEXICO CITY, March 13 (BUP)—Lifting of the United States embargo against Mexican meat and livestock will "more than counterbalance the loss to the American market of Canadian meat," U.S. officials said here today.

Winning of a five-year battle against foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico brought hope that Mexican beef can be used to hold down American meat prices.

Government agriculture officials said that Mexico will be able to ship more than 500,000 head of cattle across the border annually with the lifting of the United States embargo Sept. 1.

Although more than 1,000,000 animals were slaughtered in the joint U.S.-Mexican campaign to wipe out the dangerous livestock disease, Mexican herds were scientifically built up to enable this country to retain its former position as a major meat exporter.

Canada exported about 300,000 head of cattle per year to the United States before the imposition of the embargo two weeks ago when an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease was discovered in Saskatchewan.

Police Wednesday broke into the house after friends became worried about Rosselli's disappearance and found the body of the judge, bound and gagged, lying at the foot of his bed in a pool of blood. There were signs of a violent struggle.

A description of Rutherford had been flashed to police stations throughout France.

Last month Rutherford tried to stow away on a ship in a northern French port but was found and put ashore before it sailed. Police believe he may try to stow away again and have ordered a sharp watch kept at all ports.

Plane Crash To Be Probed

ALERT BAY, B.C., March 13 (BUP)—A federal transport department inspector headed for this Vancouver Island community today to investigate the crash of a light plane in which one man was killed and his brother injured.

Leroy Bernier, 25, was under treatment for severe shock and doctors said he could not immediately be questioned about the crash that occurred late Tuesday.

Leroy's brother, Raymond, 27, was killed when their light plane smashed into treetops as it approached for a landing on Acton Sound, 30 miles from here.

The brothers lived at Powell River, and operated a logging company near the sound.

Seek Canadian After Murder

LYONS, France, March 13 (Reuters)—Police today kept a sharp lookout at all French ports for Canadian seaman Lorne Rutherford, wanted for questioning in connection with the murder of a French judge found beaten to death at his home near here Wednesday.

Authorities said that a hitchhiker answering the description of Rutherford, believed to be from British Columbia, was picked up by Judge Bernard Rosselli Sunday morning. Later, a young man was seen entering the judge's home at the village of Chalons-Sur-Saone.

Police Wednesday broke into the house after friends became worried about Rosselli's disappearance and found the body of the judge, bound and gagged, lying at the foot of his bed in a pool of blood. There were signs of a violent struggle.

War Veteran Falls Under Police Bullets in a Tragedy of Errors

NEW ORLEANS, March 13 (UP)—Police bullets killed a 33-year-old war veteran here in a tragedy of errors shortly after his wife told him she felt "something terrible" was about to happen.

Vincent Cappel was wounded fatally early Wednesday as he stood in the dark doorway of a staircase leading to his upstairs flat. Over the door hung an ace of spades, advertising his business, the Ace Cleaners.

Cappel's beautiful red-haired wife, Lena, said he had seen two policemen around his car and mistakenly thinking they were auto thieves had gone to investigate.

The 27-year-old widow tearfully told this story:

"We had attended a wake at a funeral home for a friend last night. After we got back I was feeling blue and couldn't sleep."

"I jumped out of bed about 4 o'clock and told Vincent I had some terrible feeling, like somebody was going to come into our house in the night."

Troops Stop Reds' Attack

SEOUL, Korea, March 13 (AP)—United States and Turkish troops stopped a Communist assault battalion in its track last night in the heaviest Red attack in a month. A U.S. 25th division officer said today 200 of the 750 attacking Reds were killed or wounded.

The Communists struck behind an artillery barrage against the U.S. 35th regiment and Turkish brigade in the eastern mountains near Heartbreak Ridge.

Assault waves came in three prongs along a 2½-mile front. But, a division spokesman said, "they got nowhere."

Officers Don Steel Vests In Hunt for Toronto Thug

MONTREAL, March 13 (CP)—The police search for bank robber Edwin Boyd reached out today to Quebec's eastern townships, at the little village of Highwater, near the Quebec-Vermont border.

Word came from Granby that a squad of provincial police sped eastward on a tip that a man resembling Boyd was seen in the heavily-wooded area.

Meanwhile in Montreal, police ran down tips that placed the wanted bandit in many parts of the city at the same time.

"Armed, dangerous and crafty; mustache probably removed and sideburns shortened."

That was the description from police as they pressed their hunt for the last of a gun-packing trio wanted in Toronto for hold-up and shooting.

THREE RAIDS
This morning police carried out three more raids. But they donned 35-pound steel vests, capable of turning aside a .45-calibre slug, for nothing.

Police speculated that Boyd, said to be the brains of the trio, may have more than $400,000 in cash as a result of many operations he possibly master-minded. So far, the stolen money has not been recovered.

Assistant police director Wilfrid Bourdon said he is still convinced the sad-eyed monster is in Montreal.

He said he is just as sure that Boyd won't get out—not alive anyway.

HALF BLINDED BY GAS
Leonard Jackson was taken Wednesday night following a shooting affray with steel-vested detectives. More than 500 rounds of ammunition were exchanged before he staggered from a basement apartment, wounded in the arms and stomach and half-blinded by tear gas. Jackson's wife surrendered with him.

It was much the same story with Steve Suchan last Friday night, except for the length of the gun battle and the spectacular firing in the street. Suchan, too, collapsed in a police ambush in an apartment only a few blocks from where Jackson was hiding out.

Chief of Detectives Wilfrid Bourdon said Boyd is the brains of the trio. He is wanted on bank holdup charges in Toronto, where he and Jackson escaped from the Don Jail last November.

Jackson and Suchan are held on bank holdup charges and for the attempted murder of two Toronto detectives, shot down when they approached a car last week, two days after a $24,000 downtown bank robbery.

BEVAN OPPOSES BRITAIN'S £4, 300,000,000 arms program—brought into being by official party leaders when Labor was in power—on the grounds that it injures social services.

Bevan and 56 other Labor members of Parliament rebelled last week in the Commons when Clement Attlee, former Prime Minister, ordered them not to vote against the Conservatives' defense program.

Today's meeting of the executive, demanded by Bevan after the revolt, lasted three and a half hours.

A major clash developed today over an article in Reynolds' News, left-wing weekly, last Sunday.

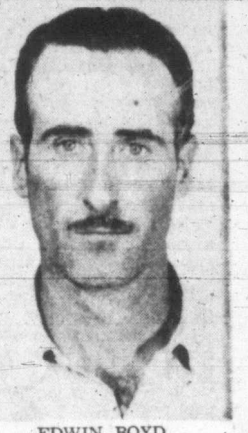

ENDORSE STAND
Written by Tom Driberg, an executive member, the article blamed disunity on party leaders who approved the defense program, claiming that this attitude violated a compromise achieved last year between the views of the Bevanites and the orthodox group.

Bevan's opponents angrily denied this.

The executive voted to repudiate Driberg's article and "states definitely that no such compromise was arrived at."

Party Split Flares Anew In Britain

Bevan in Fresh Attack on Leaders

LONDON, March 13 (Reuters). The quarrel between Aneurin Bevan, left-wing rebel, and leaders of the Labor Party flared up again today at a meeting of the party's ruling body, the national executive committee.

The 27-man committee, on which Bevan and three of his supporters sit, framed a resolution denying a Bevanite suggestion that the annual party conference last year compromised on conflicting rearmament policies.

Bevan opposes Britain's £4, 300,000,000 arms program—brought into being by official party leaders when Labor was in power—on the grounds that it injures social services.

'WITTLES' AND WEEDS

MY RECENT column on signs of spring was reflected in my mail this morning. A reader, who declares he gets "quite a kick" out of my efforts in this small corner of the Times, enclosed a cutting which he thought would be of interest. It is from a 300-year-old book on gardening and reads:

"If Gentlemen which have little else to do would be ruled by me, I would advise them to spend their spare time in their Gardens, digging, setting, weeding or the like, than which there is no better way to preserve health. If a man wants an appetite to his victuals, the smell of new earth turned up, by digging with a spade, will produce it. If he is inclined to a Consumption it will recover him. Gentlemen, if the ground is not too wet, may do themselves much good by kneeling upon a cushion and weeding. Thus both sexes might divert themselves from idleness, and evil Company, which oftentimes prove the ruin of many ingenious people.—William Cole, 1657."

GENTLEWOMEN AND KNEES

I LIKE THAT hint about gentlemen with little else to do. As far as I can judge it is the man who is busy at other things who spends his leisure time pottering about the garden, judging by what I see on my excursions around town at the week-ends.

And as to the gentlewoman who needs a cushion to kneel on, even ordinary females like me find a cushion helps a lot when it comes to working among the rocks. But there is something sound in his contention that gardening gives you an appetite, and keeps you out of the mischief that idle hands are prone to run into. As to its diverting one from "evil Company" which oftentimes prove the ruin of many ingenious people—well, there have been times when I have had the diverting thought I might be better employed in weeding my garden!

QUEEN ANNE'S LACE

WHILE ON THE subject of gardening, I confess to chuckling over a news item I read in a Windsor, Ont., paper recently. It seems that the Ontario Department of Agriculture is warning seed sellers to refrain from selling a plant known as Queen Anne's Lace.

The director of the government's crop, seeds and weeds branch said the seed catalogues describe the plant as a "pretty, easily-grown flower." I laughed at that, because I well remember in my childhood days gathering this pretty, easily-grown wild flower by the armful from the hedgerows in the English countryside.

MERELY A WEED

THE GOVERNMENT spokesman pointed out that the Queen Anne's Lace being sold by the Ontario seedsmen is simply a cultivated form of wild carrot, and that it is one of the greatest pests farmers have come up against for many years. He explained that planting the flowers in gardens would seriously hinder the efforts of the farmers to get rid of it, as it spreads its seeds so easily.

I haven't seen Queen Anne's Lace advertised in any of the local catalogues in my possession, but I sometimes wonder if the lowly dandelion is thrown in as a bonus with grass seed, we have so many of them. But perhaps it is as the unknown poet carols:

"Because with every spring I see so many of them
The dandelions prove to me the Lord must love them."

AUDIENCE CAPTIVATED

Munsel's Lovely Voice Matched by Her Beauty

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

No artist this season has so completely captivated an audience as did Patricia Munsel from the moment she stepped onto the stage of the Royal Theatre Wednesday night. Indeed, it would not be far-fetched to say that few have done so in a dozen seasons.

To begin with, she was glamorously beautiful from the top of her charmingly dressed dark hair to the hem of her lovely white gown. She moved, curtsied, gestured, with the utmost grace; her smile and her roguish eyes were enchanting, her personality warm and vivid.

These virtues make for a delightfully entertaining evening, but that is not all the tale. The young singer is an artist of considerably more than surface proportions. Whether she is singing the familiar "Danny Boy" or the charming Mozart aria, "Batti, Batti" from "Don Giovanni," she touches and enthralls you. She creates the mood by entering into the spirit of the song before she has uttered a note. By her expressive face and her pose one knows that she is about to be sad or gay, elfin or serious.

YOUTH TIMBRE

The voice itself is fresh and youthful in timbre, wide in compass, clear and full. The degree of coloratura is not the most pronounced I have heard. Trills, at least last night, were not as fully free and flexible as one might expect. There are singers on the concert platform to day who have more real beauty of tone than Miss Munsel. Nevertheless, one was not by any means aware of this throughout. Her French group, for instance, was entirely lovely. "Chanson Triste" (Duparc), and "Les Ponts De C" (Poulenc), revealed a mezzo-voice quality that was quite exquisite.

Miss Munsel sings with absolute ease and perfect control. Her artistry spreads a patina of genuine beauty over her whole performance. The arias, "Mi Chiamano Mimì" and the Meyerbeer, "Roberto, O Tu Che Adore," were finely dramatized; the Rachmaninoff song, "I Wait for Thee" and a strange little number, "Go Way from My Window," eloquently moving.

In her numerous encores, she showed an understanding of the audience's desire for the familiar. And in the best of these—the Laughing Song from "Die Fledermaus," she demonstrated the complete naturalness and composure that is part of her charm. With an airy wave of the hand, she remarked, during a piano interlude: "The chorus sings here."

Munsel is an artist who conveys to her audience in whatever language she sings, every shade of thought and meaning that lies within a song. And when all is said and done, what more can one demand of any singer and how much less most of them give!

A solo group played by accompanist Stuart Ross, revealed his accomplished pianoforte technique and artistry.

Local Liquor Option Urged

MacIntyre Argues Method Only Fair One; House Should Decide Form of Plebiscite

A full Legislature debate on the wording of the proposed liquor plebiscite was urged in the House Wednesday night by B. M. MacIntyre (Cln., Mackenzie).

MacIntyre, a Powell River hotel owner, contended the plebiscite wording should be decided by the Legislature. He received no reply from Attorney-General Gordon Wismer.

"It is our duty to find out the desires of the people through a fair, simply worded, democratic plebiscite," said MacIntyre.

He contended there is no fairer way of deciding the issue than on a local option basis. "The ridings that vote wet, let them be wet," he said. "Those that vote dry, let them be dry."

COULD SWING VOTE

If the local option principle is not followed, the member said, Vancouver could swing the vote for the entire province.

The Mackenzie member urged the federal government be requested to release it from an agreement which prohibits provinces from issuing beer licenses to hotels and clubs. He said it in B.C. today because of the 1947 agreement with the national government which was designed "to discourage construction of new buildings which in turn increases the demand for steel."

"This situation is ridiculous and impractical in this boom province," he stated. "Hotel rooms are almost as important as hospital rooms."

FARICAL

If liquor laws are changed on a local option basis following the plebiscite, it will be a "farce" if licenses are withheld because of the federal government's request, said MacIntyre.

"New hotels and restaurants are required throughout this province, in the cities and in the rural areas, particularly in the areas where great industrial expansion is taking place," he declared.

The cost of construction, furnishings and equipment is prohibitive if the owners are limited to room revenue only, he explained.

The member pleaded for a realistic approach to the liquor question, pointing out that liquor sales constituted "B.C.'s third largest source of revenue."

Judgment Reserved In Exchange Hearing

VANCOUVER, March 13 (CP)—Magistrate Oscar Orr Wednesday reserved judgment until next Wednesday on one of 151 foreign exchange charges against Gunn Louie, 55-year-old business man.

The charges involve more than $104,000.

The remaining charges will be heard beginning March 26.

Two Millions For Political Roads, Charge

Opposition Leader Herbert Anscomb charged in the Legislature Wednesday night Premier Byron Johnson has allocated $2,000,000 next year for secondary roads "for political purposes."

He was speaking on a bill to appropriate certain sums from the government's revenue surplus fund for capital expenditures.

"Everybody knows this is a political $2,000,000 for election purposes."

"If this was just an honest $2,000,000 for side roads it would be in the vote for road construction. This way it's left wide open so it can be placed wherever the sequence of events suggests it should be placed," said Anscomb. The bill was given second reading.

Hospital Insurance Premium Plan Called Ineffective Tax Collection

The premium system of payment for hospital insurance is the most ineffective and costly method of tax collection ever devised by any government, Maurice Finnerty (Govt., Similkameen), said in the Legislature Wednesday night.

"The fact of the matter is it fails to collect a probable 20 per cent of the tax, and the 80 per cent it does collect is collected at too great a cost," stated Finnerty. "And call it what we may, the premium system of collection is for the purpose of collecting a hospital tax."

The Similkameen member said a majority of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service staff is employed in the task of keeping track of premium payers. A large group is engaged in continual correspondence with hospitals trying to determine who is responsible for certain patients' bills, he added.

"This has led to tremendous increases on the local level in every hospital. The premium system is inefficient, it is costly and to put it bluntly, it has failed to collect the hospital tax," said Finnerty.

Turning to agriculture, the member said British Columbia needs an irrigation policy. He suggested irrigation matters be brought under the Department of Agriculture instead of the Department of Lands and Forests.

"For until we have irrigation in the hands of agriculturists we will continue to have a government without an agricultural policy," Finnerty said.

It would promote establishment of new traffic and safety councils in towns and cities and coordinate safety information gathered by other government departments.

Murder Trial Hearing Told Of Statement

NANAIMO, March 13—Sequel to a trial within a trial in the murder charge against Albert Fairweather in Assize Court here Wednesday afternoon was admission of a statement by accused made in Edmonton hospital to two R.C.M.P. officers.

Cpl. Herbert M. Silver quoted Fairweather as asking what date Raymond Boyce, the man he is accused of having knifed to death, had died.

Silver said it had been Sept. 27.

Fairweather: "Is that the same day that I knifed him?"

The corporal said the statement was made in the presence of Con. A. H. Crawford after Fairweather had been duly warned. Accused had been found in the hospital some time after the killing where he was seriously ill with internal trouble, sequel to an abdominal operation performed some months previously.

Before admitting the statement as evidence Mr. Justice Cline asked Wilfred M. Hefferman, counsel for defense, if he had anything to say, to which counsel replied he would leave it in his lordship's hands. The judge then said he considered the statement a voluntary one and he would admit it in evidence.

Silver was still on the stand at adjournment.

Close Screening Urged For Mental Patients

Serious thought should be given establishment of a committee to review admissions to B.C. mental institutions, E. E. Winch (C.C.F., Burnaby) said in the Legislature's budget debate Wednesday.

He warned the province to guard against too easy admission to these institutions.

"In England, all admissions must be reported to a board of control which studies the cases," the elder Winch explained.

If an "admission committee" is set up, he said its membership should include laymen.

"I don't like the orthodox type of medical mind," said the veteran M.L.A.

Winch twitted R. C. MacDonald (P.C., Dewdney) during his talk. The Dewdney member Tuesday night objected to a C.C.F. membership advertisement in a University of B.C. exhibition.

"Why," exclaimed Winch, "here's a letter I just received telling how Dr. Mackenzie just approved an additional amount from the Boag Foundation to purchase books for the socialist shelf at the library."

Winch compared B.C. mental institutions with those in Great Britain which he visited recently. He said a more understanding and sympathetic approach is working wonders in the Old Country. "The DESTROYER—In Ottawa the Senate's opposition leader said today the federal government's policy of taxing a man on his ability, was on which destroys the incentive to produce.

Senator John T. Halg, speaking in the Throne Speech debate in the upper chamber, said a man who has the brains to earn $40,000 a year was taxed two or three times as much as one whose brains would only bring him $20,000 under the same circumstances.

He was critical of Finance Minister Abbott's $700,000,000 surplus and of the finance minister's recent statements criticizing certain "pressure groups" for trying to influence his taxation policies.

INJURED—In New Westminster four persons, including Mrs. Norma Hare, 49, of Moose Jaw, were injured Wednesday night in a two-car collision on the King George highway.

The others injured, included Richard Ryan, 55-year-old vice-president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, his wife, and daughter, Beverly.

Hospital attendants reported the injured in satisfactory condition today.

PRECAUTIONS—Canada and The Netherlands have agreed on precautionary measures to ensure Dutch emigrants do not carry foot-and-mouth disease, it was announced today.

Measures will permit lifting the temporary Canadian ban on immigrants following a foot-and-mouth outbreak in Saskatchewan.

Under the agreement, Dutch emigrants, many of whom are farmers, will not be allowed to carry with them brushes and other implements used for cleaning cattle. The use of hay or straw for packing material is banned.

All work clothing and tools will be disinfected here.

Persons not complying with the regulations will be liable for deportation or a long period in quarantine.

MANIFESTO—In Cairo the anti-British Wafd Party today issued a manifesto condemning the independent cabinet of Hilaly Pasha for using martial law to troops of "losing their senses" in recent persons.

The party, which dominates the now-adjoined parliament, withdrew pledges of government support made earlier this week.

Its statement accused British troops of "losing their senses" in Ismailia, Suez Canal Zone, on Jan. 25 and "committing aggression against the population." The next day, Jan. 26, was Cairo's "Bloody Sunday," in which 27 persons died in Nationalist-sparked rioting.

Britons "plotted the murder of Sister Anthony"—a United States citizen killed in a convent during fighting between British troops and Egyptian terrorists—the statement charged.

NEW DEATH THREAT IN SCHUSTER CASE

Police Clamp Down on Publicity; Interview Possible Witnesses in Distant Precincts

NEW YORK, March 13 (BUP)—New York police dropped a brass curtain today on their movements to track down the murderer of Arnold Schuster, tipster in the capture of bank robber Willie Sutton.

They said the March 8 revenge slaying of the 24-year-old pants salesman and the events that followed had received too much publicity. All questions were referred to Police Commissioner George Monaghan.

Latest development in the case was a death threat mailed to Dr. S. M. Fialka, who was summoned by neighbors after the body of Schuster was found on the sidewalk near his Brooklyn home. The letter was intercepted Wednesday by postal authorities and turned over to the F.B.I.

Half Million In New Works

Oak Bay's public works program for the coming year will cost about $500,000, the same as last year.

This was the indication given after a meeting of the municipal council's works committee Wednesday night.

Largest project for the year will be construction of roads, curbs, sidewalks and sewers on the new subdivision, formerly Willow's fairgrounds. Installation of new water services will be another major item in the works department's budget.

To Be Filled By Lord Ismay

LONDON, March 13 (UP)—Lord Ismay, Britain's wartime chief of staff and a personal friend of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, has been named Secretary-General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, it was announced today.

The N.A.T.O. council of deputies also named 64-year-old Ismay vice-chairman of the permanent N.A.T.O. council.

Ismay has been Commonwealth relations secretary in Churchill's government. He will be replaced in that post by the Marquess of Salisbury, 58, now Lord Privy Seal.

The post of Secretary-General was first offered to Britain's Ambassador to Washington, Sir Oliver Franks. When Franks declined, the post was offered to Canadian External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson, who also is chairman of the N.A.T.O. Council of Foreign Ministers. Pearson also declined.

Meat Shipment Permits Bowman's Hope

Some shipments of meat may be allowed into British Columbia on a permit basis in two or three days, Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman told the Legislature Wednesday.

He made the statement in reply to questions put by E. E. Winch (C.C.F., Burnaby) during his budget debate speech.

"I believe there is a distinct possibility we may be able to allow some shipments of meat into the province on a permit basis in two or three days," said the minister.

The meat, he added, would be carefully inspected at the border and would enter under bond.

The meat embargo was imposed two weeks ago when the ravaging foot-and-mouth disease broke out among cattle near Regina.

Bowman said he had talked to federal Agriculture Minister James Gardiner about 3 p.m. (Wednesday). Gardiner, he continued, said he is sending two veterinary inspectors from his department to Alberta and one to Vancouver.

Gardiner feels the outbreak has been confined to the Regina area and is reasonably confident there will be no further outbreaks, Bowman said.

However, there is no veteranarian-in-Alberta who will state emphatically that province is free from the disease nor is it not in danger, Bowman explained.

Bowman realized the packing-house officials are concerned about lay-offs, but he said the province must be protected from the dread disease. The government also is aware that existing meat supplies are getting low, he added.

New Hampshire and the World

OUT OF THE SNOWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE General Eisenhower emerges looking very much like the next president of the United States.

The Republican voters in the first primary election have declared that they wish General Eisenhower to be the party candidate next autumn and they have defeated Senator Taft. Perhaps never before in American history has a candidate won such a victory without ever appealing to the voters, without making a speech, without stirring out of Europe while his opponent was campaigning through the highways and byways and ringing every local doorbell.

While he has received a serious setback, Senator Taft still controls a large part of the Republican machine and the machine, not the voters, will control the party convention. But General Eisenhower has proved himself such a popular candidate with the public in his first test that a party which is mainly anxious to win an election will hesitate to reject him. It feels that with General Eisenhower it can win the presidency. It has no such assurance with Senator Taft.

New Hampshire, a small state, would seem to have little influence on the course of the world at large. By a strange combination of circumstances it was more important on Tuesday than most of the world's capitals. For in New Hampshire the foreign policy of the United States was put to its first popular test since the outbreak of the Korean war.

On one side stood Eisenhower who believes that the defense of Europe is the first American priority, to which all other areas, including Asia, are subsidiary. On the other stood Senator Taft, until recently an isolationist, who believes that Asia is the first priority and who has constantly tried to whittle down the United States' aid to Europe.

In this local sampling of American opinion General Eisenhower and the present American foreign policy have won. The free world breathes more easily.

Just as striking was President Truman's defeat in New Hampshire. Apparently he entered the primary there mainly to stop Senator Kefauver, whom he does not welcome as his successor in the leadership of the Democratic Party. Senator Kefauver may well have stopped the President.

If Mr. Truman could afford to ignore the verdict of a Democratic primary in a Republican state he cannot ignore much more serious developments in the solid Democratic south. There is a revolt against him on the civil rights issue has coalesced around Senator Russell, of Georgia, who proposes to lead a third party in the election if Mr. Truman is renominated. This means that the President's nomination would split his party wide open and probably assure its defeat.

Mr. Truman, a President of rare courage who has had more effect on the course of world history than any of his recent predecessors except Roosevelt, is suffering from the age and the corruption of his government. He is perhaps nearing the end of a notable career. When he cannot even win a local primary, when the solid south turns against him, he may well decide not to seek a third term.

His party might find in Senator Kefauver or Governor Stevenson, of Illinois, a candidate able to beat Senator Taft. It could hardly hope to find one who could beat General Eisenhower, whom a majority of Americans seem to want as their next president.

In Sheeb's Clothing

THE CURRENT ACTION OF PRIME Minister Menzies in cutting Australia's imports by one-half until its international trade regains a balance shows the brittle nature of a nation's economic structure.

Only a few months ago Australia was riding the crest of prosperity's wave. With wool prices at a record high and the United States busily stockpiling this commodity the southern dominion found its income soaring. It increased its foreign buying proportionately.

Almost overnight the boom broke. Wool prices plunged as world demand slackened. Now Australia must cut imports from 20 to 80 per cent or see its reserves of foreign currencies wiped out.

The restrictions are an emergency move. Prime Minister Menzies explains, and will be removed as soon as possible. Increase of exports, he says, is the only sure way to redress the country's trade balance.

Unfortunately his remedy is likely to postpone the day when that balance will be achieved. For Australia's imports do not come out of the blue void. Each shipload of goods represents a shipload of exports from some particular country which in turn, by reason of its overseas sales, could become a customer of Australia's. By cutting his imports Mr. Menzies is also cutting the means by which the purchasers of Australian goods would pay for them. His action is analogous to the United States' policy of clapping on high tariffs after the First World War and then demanding that her foreign debtors pay her. Naturally they could only do this in the last analysis with goods, and these the United States refused to accept.

Chancellor Butler recognized cold facts in presenting his British budget this week when he declared: "One can go only so far cutting imports before one starts reducing one's own export market."

The Australian prime minister hopes his restrictions will be temporary. His story shows that once imposed, such curbs to free trading are difficult to remove. Australian producers, becoming accustomed to the restricted competition, may oppose an invasion of their domestic market. Infant industries, vested interests, will provide potent arguments for protection.

Meanwhile the Australian experience furnishes an example for other peoples to heed. Countries dependent for their main prosperity on world markets—and Canada is an outstanding one—will find the lesson obvious. A sudden change in the lumber market, similar to that in wool, conceivably could have corresponding effects here. It would be sound economics to keep that possibility in mind.

A Concealed and Dangerous Growth

TOTAL PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT contributions to hospital insurance this year—apart from the public's premiums—are estimated at $9,500,000. That is a sum approximately $3,500,000 above last year and represents a little more than one-third of the total costs of the hospital insurance service.

It includes, of course, payments for social assistance cases whose maintenance is not properly chargeable to the insurance scheme, but is part of the general costs of hospitalization as borne by the state.

As the total stands for the 1952-53 fiscal year, the $9,500,000 amounts to more than half the estimated liquor profits for the same period, and is near one-quarter of the federal government's $41,000,000 allocation to British Columbia under the income tax agreement.

The sum, moreover, is greater than motorists are expected to pay the province in motor vehicle licenses and fees and is more than two-thirds of what they will pay in gas taxes by present estimate.

In the expenditure field it is almost as much as British Columbia will pay on highway maintenance for the year.

No Liquor Bargains

SOME FARMERS WHO ARE interested in the British Columbia wine industry fear that if any California wines are admitted here they will be "dumped" at low prices. Apparently these gentlemen know little of the Provincial Liquor Board. When it imports any kind of liquor it never offers low prices. It asks all the traffic will bear. If California wine is ever imported it will be sold, we may be sure, at the highest possible price like every other product on the shelves.

This, of course, is not the policy of the Liquor Board but of the government. When government first entered the liquor business in 1920 its declared purpose was to sell as little liquor as possible in the interest of "moderation," the sacred catchword of the day. It is sufficient to pay for the construction of 111 miles of paved highway at an average cost of $85,000 a mile.

There is no suggestion here that the money is to be spent on anything but an excellent service. The purpose of the comparisons set forth is to show the mounting total of government contributions in relation to certain revenues and in relation to certain other essential services.

Primarily hospital insurance is insurance. Premier Johnson has made that point abundantly clear. But if government contributions to the insurance fund keep rising, if more and more of the cost is unloaded on the general treasury, how long will it remain an insurance scheme instead of a state service paid for by the taxpayer? How long can the scheme remain financially manageable?

As long as the people are required to pay hospital costs as premiums they will watch those costs. As the costs are disguised in the general budget they will be more and more ignored, and as they are ignored they will inevitably rise, in the end becoming insupportable. In that eventuality a highly valuable service would collapse.

soon proved so easy to collect taxes from the drinking public that all successive governments sold as much as they could at the highest price they could get. The Liquor Board has done only what government has told it to do. Since the only purpose of the discriminatory prohibition of American liquors is to protect the local wine industry in defiance of our tariff agreement with the United States—it is to be suspected that if imports are finally permitted everything possible will be done to discourage their sale. The price can easily be rigged in the liquor stores in favor of the Canadian product.

The B.C. farmers need not fear any "dumping" of competitive merchandise. The Liquor Board has never given the consumer a bargain yet.

No Buttle Dam Without Debate

THERE IS ROOM FOR DIFFERENCE of opinion on Arthur Ash's stand on damming Buttle Lake. There is no room for difference on the Saanich Liberal member's position on discussions which should precede a decision.

Mr. Ash says that any action on the matter would be "folly" until the question has been settled by full legislative debate.

Since the government contemplates only the transaction of a minimum of essential business at the present session, that may entail delay in the development of more hydro-electric power at the John Hart plant. Delay may be unfortunate. At the same time assurances have already been given that no decision on Buttle Lake will be made definite until the members have a chance to discuss the issue publicly and thoroughly. Mr. Ash is right in his position on that point.

LOOSE ENDS

Mrs. Noggins' Friend

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

"GOOD old 'Erb Anscumb," said Mrs. Noggins, "reminds me of the oil stock I bought the other day. If we strike oil we'll have a dandy oil well. If 'Erb can find a policy 'e'll have a dandy political party. But give 'im time. Why 'e's only bin in politics 20 years or so, and finding a policy, like finding oil, is a slow job. 'Erb 'as a lot more borin' to do. But 'e's borin' all right. Arsk anybody who's read 'is latest speech. 'The governor's budget, says 'Erb, is no good but, 'e says, I'm proud to be the father of it. 'The governor, 'e says, is spendin' too much money but it should spend a lot more. It's too extravagant and economical at the same time. 'The governor's policy is all wrong and I should know, says 'Erb, because I invented it."

"With one foot, says 'Erb, I would crush the monster of extravagance in his shell but I need the other free to run an election on."

"TIS a great, big rich province, says 'Erb, and its future lies before it with which any sensible person would agree. 'Tis a province, says 'Erb, as is so rich that no depression can ever reach it, but, of course, it may go bust at any time and throw everybody out of work if the governor keeps on followin' the policy I laid down for it."

"Wot we need, says 'Erb, is a Conservative government that will conserve. And wot will we conserve? Why, we'll conserve the Conservative Party, of course. That's my policy. Can you think of a better one? So wot the voters must do, 'e says, is keep the governor's crazy policy, the work of my own 'ands, and throw the governor out. We need the Liberals' program and reliable Conservatives like me to administer it."

"NOW, of course, says 'Erb, I could of played politics with the public's business. I could 'ave gone to the country on a Conservative policy and swept it clean. I could 'ave played dirty with the Grits and cut down spendin' and taxes, just to win votes. But though the Grits treated me mean I would scorn to use such weapons against 'em. I will not sink to the level of practisin' Conservative principles just to climb into office. Before I will be guilty of carryin' out 'is toric views of my party I would drather be in opposition."

"NO, sir, I will play the game clean, win, lose or draw, by endorcin' wot the governor's doin', by approv'n' all its policies and plegdin' myself to do more of the same. Could anything be fairer and honest than that? I will never be helectad at all if it means criticizin' my opponents or sayin' anythink definite myself. Let us keep it clean like gentlemen wotever we do."

"But without complainin' against anybody I must confess, says 'Erb, that my 'eart bleeds for the taxpayers unjustly 'staggerin' under the taxes I put on 'em for which the Liberals is solely responsible. The governor's 'is levvin' too much taxes, as I always said when I put 'em on."

"THERE'S too much social security for everybody but the Conservative party which can't even qualify for a old age pension or a free spell in 'ospital, which it will soon be needin'. Everything's sailin' along fine, until Johnson fired me but now the country's goin' straight 'the dogs by followin' the line I laid down in office."

"SO NOW we know," said Mrs. Noggins, where 'Erb stands. Like the fella said, 'Erb isn't standin' with one foot on one side of the fence and the other foot on the other. No, Sir, 'Erb is such a frank and courageous leader that 'e's standin' with both feet on both sides of the fence, which is quite an acrobatic stunt when you come to think of it."

"But don't ask me what I stand for, says 'Erb. There's no time for them minor technical quibbles when a man is busy with the important work of winnin' an election. Give me time and I'll find a policy and announce it to the public but, nacherally, not before the polls 'ave closed."

The Soviet Legislature

New York Times

THE Supreme Soviet, legislature of the Soviet Union, opened its 1952 meeting recently in an atmosphere quite different from that surrounding the meetings of nominally similar bodies in Washington, London or Paris.

It does not seem rash to predict that Mr. Stalin's government will not be voted out of office, that its budget will be accepted without significant alteration or even extensive debate, and that all the interim decrees of the Soviet government will be approved unanimously.

The entire meeting may not take more than a week or 10 days, after which the members can go home and rest for another year from their not-so-arduous legislative duties.

This at least is the conclusion to be drawn from the whole history of this compliant legislature, a model example of how modern Stalinism uses democratic forms while making a mockery of the reality of democratic decision-making.

One feature of this latest meeting deserves attention, however. Until now there had been frequent expectation that this session would be called on to ratify the Fifth Five-Year Plan, whose execution actually began at the beginning of 1951.

The Moscow censor has now passed a dispatch saying that the agenda adopted March 5 indicate this will not be the case.

Obviously no embarrassing questions on this score will be raised at the purely ceremonial meetings of the Supreme Soviet, but the democratic world will do well to be alert to the significance of this continued extreme secrecy on the goals of Soviet economic development, goals so clearly at variance with the usual Stalinist talk about "peaceful development."

We were amused by your account in "Topics of the Times" (March 5) wherein you stated N. Woods of Departure Bay Road, "Nanaimo," was winner of $1,000 contest, as announced by the master of ceremonies Bob Hawk, of the People Are Funny program.

The funniest part of it all is that Bob Hawk isn't even on the People Are Funny program!

MODEST PROPOSAL

Crime has reached proportions where it is threatening the very basis of our civilization. The time is approaching, if it is not already here, when criminals will so outnumber the law-abiding ones, that crime will reign supreme upon this earth. When that time arrives it is going to be tough for everybody, criminals included.

The trouble with our system is that we make it too easy for the criminal. They have little to lose and much to gain (to their way of thinking) for, instead of having to hunt jobs in winter, they are housed in warm shelters, where they are clothed and fed at our expense.

The remedy? Well, we might do as the Russians have been doing for the last few centuries: send them, not to Siberia, but away up into the Arctic circle, where it is good and cold; but not unhealthy.

Populate our barren (of population) northern territories, as England did Australia in Hanoverian times, with our major offenders and they will produce a healthy and hardy type of people, who will be a credit to our country. A person would be loath to commit a crime if he knew that a life in the Arctic was to be his fate.

INSURANCE COSTS

Some very interesting information has been disclosed this season in the Votes and Proceedings of the House at Victoria in answers to questions put by members, for instance:

In regard to money which has been spent on publicity for the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service since its formation, we learn that up to Feb. 26, 1952, a total amount of $153,582.05 has been used for this purpose, $47,119.83 being spent in the year 1951. Of this total amount $119,935.15 was paid to the press, the balance going for advertising by radio, pamphlets, show cards, bus and street car, etc., etc.

This is a large sum of money, particularly the amount spent in 1951, during which time the commission appointed to investigate the administration of the Act was sitting and had as yet reached no conclusions: yet money was spent from

Political Comments

FREEDOM...

I am truly shocked to read in the papers of the behavior of our elected representatives in the Legislature last week when I understand Mr. W. A. C. Bennett was greeted with cries and cat calls while trying to make a speech.

As a woman I wish to register a protest and to say this is not according to British ethics and fair play. We criticize the Russians and Mr. Vishinsky when they use such tactics in the U.N. Assemblies, but it seems to me we should look for the beam in the eyes of our own people, perhaps, before we criticize others in future.

ETHEL FREYD.

... OF SPEECH

Are we living in a real democracy or is it perhaps that our representatives are still in the adolescent stage of life?

A new political angle is looming upon the horizon in British Columbia and our old line parties certainly took the best way to give it a boost.

R. deLOTTBINIÈRE-HARWOOD, M.D.

THE LITTLE BOATS

There seems to be something "fishy" about the opposition of the fish packers in the case of the fishermen. How any person or body of persons can split hairs to the extent of saying that a fisherman is not a workman is stupid and hardly worthy of comment. However, for 12 long years this state of injustice has been allowed to prevail.

The challenge of the little armada at the Causeway has aroused many thinking people to question the why and the wherefore and the amendment proposed by the fishermen's organization to the Compensation Act should be dealt with speedily and should not be allowed to become a political football.

The consumer is appalled at the price of fish, but he resents being robbed by the middleman... of course we can never pay in coin the loss of life, but we can see to it that all fishermen shall have equal rights with other workmen in a Workmen's Compensation Act.

DEFINITION WANTED

As a puzzled citizen who wishes to vote for the right party, the writer would like some clear definition of what the Social Credit party stands for.

Others have made the same query, but, for some reason or other, no one seems to supply the answer. Social Credit candidates and supporters, when approached, suddenly become vague and evasive, merely recommending enquirers to attend meetings.

The whole situation is very obscure. It would appear that—there have been some dissatisfaction with the Coalition, and nobody particularly wanting the C.C.F.... some voters are considering the unknown quantity... Social Credit, the craze for anything new.

Let us check and decide for ourselves... Do not let us be led up the garden by a few frustrated intellectuals, and grab at something new, unless we are convinced that it is better.

Perhaps someone will tell us what Social Credit is.

BAND WAGON?

Your columns referring to the speech of Mr. Whisker, Liberal from Cowichan, indicates clearly he, too, is on the band wagon when occasion suits.

He says, "If we on this side of the House (Liberals) were to convoke together for the single purpose of gaining an election victory it would be the scurviest sort of partisan politics and we are not going to play that kind of a game. The Premier won't let us."

Has his all too short memory failed him at this early date when in the recent Esquimalt by-election, he stated he would campaign for Mrs. Whisker who was going to contest the Coalition seat as an Independent—again the government and again the ex-mayor, Mr. George, the Liberal choice.

Now he is back on the band wagon again.

What do we assume he is—Coalitionist, Liberal, Independent or just an unreliable?

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"WELL," said the Elevator Man, "it looks like the beginning of the end is in sight. I see where some scientist is talking about a space ship that would dominate the whole world. It seems this man-made satellite would be shot up to a thousand miles above us, where it would continue to circle the earth once every two hours. Everything going on down here would be under view, like flies on a football. And you'd be able to drop an atomic bomb—a guided one that is—on any spot you liked. That seems to be the only reason the scientist wants the thing sent up there—so you can drop bombs from it. But there must be other good uses for a little ersatz planet like that. How about using it to parano scientists who want to drop atomic bombs? Going up!

"There's much to be said," said the Elevator Man, "for a tiny moon that you could control. There are quite a few people around these days who would like nothing better than to get off the earth for a spell and get their bearings. But their numbers are nothing compared with the size of the group which other people would like to see moved off. Lower main!

"A view of the globe like that," said the Elevator Man, "might prove surprising. Reminds me of the story about the teacher asking Jimmy if the world was round. 'No'm,' he says, 'is it flat?' she asks. 'No'm.' Well, then, Jimmy, if it isn't round or flat, what is it?' 'Well,' answered Jimmy, 'Dad says it's a crooked world, Mama says it's a hard world and Uncle says it's a cold world. I guess it must be shaped like a used ice pick.'"

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE
RECORD TO DATE, 1952—
205.9 HOURS

SYNOPSIS: Gales are lashing the north coast in advance of a fast-moving Pacific storm. Rain from this disturbance will spread over the south coast and there will be increasing showers of rain or snow in the interior this evening.

The storm centre was expected to move into the Vancouver Island region this afternoon and then drift slowly southward into Washington by Friday morning. Skies will clear along the northern mainland as the centre passes southward. Elsewhere cloudy unsettled weather will persist behind the disturbance. Temperatures will remain about the same as those for the last few days.

REGIONAL FORECASTS VALID UNTIL MIDNIGHT FRIDAY

VICTORIA: Cloudy Friday. Intermittent rain tonight. A few showers Friday. Little change in temperature. Light winds. Low tonight and high Friday, 39 and 47.

WEST COAST: Cloudy with showers Friday. A few sunny periods Friday. Little change in temperature. Winds westerly, 25 tonight. Low tonight and high Friday at Vancouver airport, Abbotsford and Nanaimo, 39 and 45.

Welch Raps Premier For Denying Mandate

H. J. Welch (Cln. Comox), one of the three straight Coalitionists in the Legislature, is "completely and utterly disgusted" with the argument that the government has no mandate to govern.

Speaking in the budget debate Wednesday, Welch contended the only members in the House with out a mandate are those sitting in Opposition—the Progressive Conservatives.

Welch was actually attacking Premier Byron Johnson's policy. The premier made no reply.

"We have a mandate and we are not making use of it," he told the House.

"I feel the people will object strenuously because we have neglected entirely, on this excuse, to deal with the vital matters which should have come up at this session."

He recalled that in 1928 Premier Dr. J. D. MacLean carried out a full session with a 24-24 House strength. His government carried through its mandate, and responsibilities to the people of that day, he said.

"The election was held in June. There seems to be a parallel there," said Welch.

He stressed he wasn't suggesting that the government carry on for its full natural life. An election soon is necessary, he agreed.

JOB FOR HUSTINGS

"But I do not feel that we have the right to sit here and make political speeches and waste the time of this session trying to mend political fences on the floor of the House when it should be done on the hustings."

Member after member has spoken, not with an eye to the welfare of B.C., but with an eye on the ballot box. I deplore this intensely," declared Welch.

After listing the matters which he claims need action, Welch said:

"We have the mandate, Mr. Premier—it's up to you."

A logging operator himself, Welch criticized B.C.'s forest management license scheme and said it has created timber dynasties just as he predicted.

"I am just as sold on forest management as the minister of forests. It is the license I deplore," said Welch.

Supporting his argument, the Comox member pointed out the amalgamation of MacMillan and Bloedel's, the amalgamation of the Abitibi Company, the B.C. Pulp and the Alaska Pine; the absorbing by the Powell River Co. of the B.C. Manufacturing Co. holdings at Salmon Arm; and the amalgamation of Crown's Zellerbach Co. in the U.S. with the Canadian Western in the Elk Falls Company.

"In this short space of time the dynasties I prophesied have been created. This Madame Speaker, is in perpetuity—don't forget that," stated the member.

ADVICE ADVISED

Welch suggested the formation of an advisory committee on forestry to the Cabinet. He noted none of the Cabinet members have had experience in forestry.

The Comox member claimed the present method of the sale of government stumpage is "rapidly bringing the small operator to his knees." Men apparently go crazy when they have to bid for timber at auction, and don't at all realize quite where profit becomes a loss.

He suggested Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney consider a method of selling timber stumpage on a basis of a percentage of the ultimate selling price.

DAM APPROVED

Welch went on record in favor of damming Buttle Lake.

"The power commission should be given the go ahead at once, and get on with the job before we run out of power on Vancouver Island," he stated.

He added that investigations have started into the possibility of using steam to create power for the Island.

Welch is against damming of Upper Campbell Lake because it means inundating about 3,500 acres more of the finest timber-growing land in B.C. Worst of all, he said, it would close off for all time—except at tremendous expense—the natural highway route through to North Vancouver Island.

HIGHWAY FIRST

The member said he isn't in favor of a West Coast Road until the Island Highway is extended north.

CO-INSURANCE

The supposition that continuance of co-insurance will keep people out of hospitals is ridiculous, H. J. Welch (Cln. Comox), said in the Legislature Wednesday.

Welch, a member of the hospital insurance inquiry board, said the "$3.50 a day top impost on co-insurance" doesn't discourage people because it costs more than that to live at home.

He pointed out the board recommended that payments to hospitals be made on a basis of the number of beds in the hospital, not the number of beds occupied.

"Therefore, it is obvious that it pays the hospital to keep their patients moving," said the Comox member.

He also opposed co-insurance, he added, because it is "kicking a man when he is down—when he can least afford to pay."

"Co-insurance has served its purpose. Now, for goodness sake, let's get rid of it."

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Pacific Coast Hockey League president Al Leader takes issue with columnist Scotty Melville of the Regina Leader Post for a recent article suggesting that the league is torn by dissension.

To quote Mr. Leader:
"The stories originate from quotations attributed to have been made by Murray Patrick, manager and coach of the Tacoma Hockey Club, while on the last trip to the prairies."

"Mr. Patrick was quoted as saying 'Never again will I bring my Rockets to the prairies' and other remarks intimating that he was dissatisfied with the present league arrangement."

"Mr. Patrick denies making any such statement. In fact he is pleased with the present arrangements and will be quite happy to continue. Other reports indicate that the Coast League is begging other cities to join it. The Coast League has never requested any city to join the league at any time. But it will always welcome any city it believes will be an asset."

In reference to remarks attributed to Melville that juggling of league attendance figures was carried out in order to make any proposition Leader has the following to say:
"The P.C.H.L. never has nor never will juggle its figures. Attendance figures are based on actual paid admissions."

Leader also goes on record as saying "the league will continue to operate as presently constituted and will continue to prosper despite the evident lack of desire of some people to see it do so."

Tut, Tut! League's Ugly Ducklings

Then there's the case of another columnist—one Keith Matthews of Vancouver. Matthews has intimated loud enough and often enough that it isn't difficult to misinterpret his feelings, that the reason Victoria and Calgary are as close to the Canucks as they are is that the leading teams in the P.C.H.L. are afraid of the Canucks and do not want to see them in the playoffs.

To quote from a recent article by Matthews, his second along these lines:
"Coach Hugh Currie and all his players went on record over a week ago that they expected the Royals to lose (to Calgary)."

"They figured that they were the unwanted ones in the P.C.H.L. playoff picture and no amount of reasoning from other sources would change their minds."

Following the Calgary victory over New Westminster Monday night a Vancouver player is quoted by Matthews as saying: "Okay, we shouldn't have expected any help from the top teams in the first place. Now, we'll have to go out and get into those playoffs all by ourselves."

Mr. Matthews, it will be recalled, is the same gentleman who last year hit Victoria's Don Webster below the belt by misquoting New Westminster's Kenny MacKenzie concerning Webster's alleged "dirty tactics."

Perhaps the playoff race has got the better of Matthews again. At least it appears to have dulled his sense of virtue. Naturally, he wishes the Canucks to get into the playoffs, but unwarranted attacks like these have no place in sport, especially as Mr. Matthews appears to have forgotten that it was only a few short weeks ago that Vancouver took a pair of week-end games from the Royals.

Surely the Royals wouldn't have allowed that to happen, if it could have been avoided under Matthews' reasoning or lack of same.

Important Games—Aren't They All?

As it is, the Royals meet Vancouver Friday night following their prairie trip. We wonder what Mr. Matthews will say if the Canucks win. Hmmmm! But then maybe the Canucks are better than the Royals. After all, they've won 22 games this year while the Royals have won 39.

And further, wouldn't the reverse appear to be more to the point. A Vancouver-New Westminster series would be a natural from a financial angle with traveling expenses at a minimum? Come now, Mr. Matthews!

Incidentally, there is no lack of confidence on the Cougars that they still can't make it, though the schedule is hardly in their favor.

General manager Fred Hutchinson was not exactly optimistic about the team's chances, but he was adamant in his belief that the Canucks would be on the outside looking in come playoff time. "We've got just as good a chance as they have," he said. "The fight will be between Victoria and Calgary."

The entire issue could be settled by this week-end as Calgary hosts Edmonton tonight, plays at Edmonton Friday and Saskatoon, Saturday. Victoria is home to Tacoma, Friday, and travels to New Westminster, Saturday, while the Canucks visit Seattle, Sunday, following their Friday engagement with the Royals.

Early Badminton Rounds Passed With Few Upsets

WINNIPEG, March 13 (CP)—Upsets were few Wednesday in the opening round of the Canadian Badminton Championships at the smart Winnipeg Badminton Club. Play in all open events got down to the quarter-finals which go on tonight.

Probably the biggest upset was the defeat of third-seeded Bev Westcott of Toronto by 1950 champion Al Williams of Calgary, making a comeback after sitting out competitions last year.

Williams took the measure of the eastern ace, 15-12, 15-7, to advance into the eighth, where he will meet Dave McTaggart, 19-year-old British Columbia champion from Vancouver.

Other matches in the quarter-finals will see defending champion Daryl Thompson go against Jack Mulr of Toronto; Ken Forsythe of Winnipeg against fourth-seeded Gordon Simpson of Montreal, and John Bouck of Vancouver against second-seeded Don Smythe of Toronto.

In the women's singles, top-seeded Marge Shedd of Toronto will take on Joanne Legger of Saskatoon, while second-ranking Marj Mapp of Montreal meets Vi O'Grady of Winnipeg.

Other quarter-final games are: Mrs. Jean Bardsley of Vancouver against Jean Warren of Toronto; and Lois Reid of Vancouver against Clair Lovett, also of Vancouver.

Defending champions and top-seeded pair, Gordon Simpson and Dick Birch of Toronto are expected to have their hands full in the eighth of the men's doubles Friday night when they meet Forsythe and Williams.

Grant Henry of Toronto and Tom Matthews of Winnipeg play the highly-regarded Muir and Bev Westcott. Thompson and Bert Jones of Vancouver take on Winnipeg's John Carter and Jack Eysbank, who covered a mile Wednesday night by defeating Andy Simpson and Lucien Soucy of Montreal, 15-10, 15-13.

PAULINS BEATEN
WINNIPEG, March 13 (BUP).—Varsity Grads took a 1-0 lead in the Greater Winnipeg Senior Basketball League final Wednesday night by downing Winnipeg Paulins, 68-63.

given to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

The dinner is a sell-out with 417 places taken up more than a week ago. Sportsmen in Canada and the U.S. have picked up the tab for getting the celebrities here and home again and also for the costs of staging the big show, which will be an annual event.

The head-table list is representative of practically every major sport. Among the 22 sportsmen are Jim Thorpe, Jack Dempsey, Lionel Conacher, Bill Cook, Newsy Lalonde, King Clancy, Aurel Joliat, Eddie Shore, Sandy Somerville, Bobby Rosenfeld.

Honors have come to many of these greats in the past few years from sports writers and sportscasters of Canada and the U.S.

The 64-year-old Thorpe was chosen greatest all-around athlete of the first half century in the U.S. in a poll conducted by the Associated Press. He was given the nod on his football playing with the old Carlisle Indians, and his almost-unbelievable record of taking 11 of 15 events in the 1912 summer Olympic Games at Stockholm.

Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler, was voted the outstanding boxer in the same poll.

Conacher, who starred at football, lacrosse, hockey and other sports, won the all-round award in a half-century poll conducted by the Canadian Press and also was voted the greatest football player. Lalonde took the title of greatest lacrosse player, Somerville the greatest golfer and Miss Rosenfeld the greatest all-around female athlete of the 50 years.

Joliat, Shore, Cook and Clancy are the only surviving members of the first all-star

Merchants Clip Army To Gain Puck Finals

OLYMPIC BODY SAYS ARCHIE ACCEPTABLE

Appointment of Archie McKinnon as Canada's Olympic swimming coach was confirmed Wednesday by the Canadian Olympic Association. Mrs. Marjorie Naysmith announced the confirmation after a meeting of the B.C. Swimming Association in Vancouver. The B.C. Association is appealing to the Canadian Swimming Association to have the date of the Canadian Olympic swimming trials postponed from the original date of June 18 until June 28.

Three Games Scheduled for Juvenile Day

Plans are well under way for the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association's Juvenile Day, which will be held at Athletic Park, Good Friday, April 11.

To date, three matches, highlighted by an exhibition match between Victoria United and an all-star squad from the Victoria and District Football Association, are scheduled.

Another game on the card will be an exhibition contest between the Victoria Fire Department's soccer team and a Victoria and District Football Association team.

Preliminary game will be one of the three B.C. junior soccer finals being held in Victoria that day.

All proceeds from juvenile day will go to the association to help promote juvenile soccer in Greater Victoria.

Trail Squares Series

NELSON, B.C., March 13 (CP)—Nelson Maple Leafs kept their Allan Cup hopes alive here Wednesday night when they edged Trail Smoke Eaters 4-3 in the fourth game of a best-of-five series.

The win tied the B.C. semifinal series at two games apiece. Fifth and deciding game will be played in Trail tonight.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST SQUASH TOURNAMENT HERE

Victoria will be the scene of the Pacific Northwest squash championships Friday through Sunday at the Victoria Squash Club courts on Broughton Street.

United States nationally ranked players from San Francisco, Portland and Seattle will attend plus competitors from Vancouver, Shawinigan Lake School, the Royal Canadian Navy and the local club.

Tournament officials expect 50 entries with the largest number, 20, coming from Seattle.

The tourney will open Friday evening with unseeded players seeing action and swing into high gear Saturday culminating with the final at 1 Sunday afternoon followed by presentation of prizes.

Merchants 5, Army 2

By DENNY BOYD

When a hockey club is in such dire straits that it is forced to build a starting forward line out of a defenseman, a spare goalie and a forward, it is hardly in a position to advance into a Commercial Hockey League championship series.

Army found themselves in just such a position Wednesday night. Trailing in the best-of-five series, two games to one, the soldiers were so hard hit by injuries that their starting forward unit consisted of forward Bob Freeborn, venerable defenseman Gus Moran and alternate goalie Doug Boettcher who still wore bandages in his neck covering a four-stitch gash he picked up Monday night and was wearing goalie's skates.

For a while Army kept pace with Merchants, even holding the lead at one time. But the superior speed and reserves of Merchants were not to be denied and they took a 5-2 victory to advance to the best-of-seven city finals against Navy. The series starts Wednesday night.

CROWD STARTLED

Army started the sparse crowd by taking the lead after two minutes. Rod Hallam slapped a hard shot from the blue-line that Ab Ellis stopped but dropped. Stew Vary raced in and poked the loose puck into the net.

At 9:36, Ab Taylor, of Merchants, was camped near the Army net when Al Arnold let fly with a snapper. Taylor snatched the shot home and tied the score. However, Ken Gill restored the Army lead at 12:40 of the first period, scoring from a scramble that screened Ellis from the puck.

LANGE HAS ENOUGH
Merchants couldn't be stopped in the second and third period, not even by the nimble goal-tending of Felix Lange who announced following the game that he was retiring from active hockey.

Arnold split the defense and picked the short side early in the second period to tie the game and Rudy Plischo slapped in a rebound following a two-man break to put the Merchants into the lead for the first time.

Continuing the same relentless pressure in the third period, Merchants rapped in a pair of safety markers when the groggy soldiers began missing their checks. Rod Jensen got the first, driving a 20-footer into the top right hand corner and Ken Gunter

Blacks Hold Slender Lead, Dockers Lose

Victoria High Blacks took a scant one-point lead in the Inter-High School Senior Girls' Basketball League Wednesday when they held Mount Douglas to a 19-19 tie. Second-place V.H.S. Golds were idle.

Esquimalt lost its third straight contest, dropping an 18-15 decision to Mount View Golds, while Mount View Greens fell before the rambling Oak Bay quintette, 42-22.

Blacks took an early 14-9 lead in the first frame and held it during the scoreless second stanza. In the third quarter, scoring was even, but Mount Douglas pulled up its socks in the final frame to force the tie.

Gayle Calder paced Vic High with four points, while Joyce Johnson led Mount Douglas with nine.

Nanaimo Players Again Go Berserk

Attack Ref Following Loss to Vics

The British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association could probably do minor hockey a great favor if they would investigate the possibilities of taking Nanaimo and dropping it right out of the association.

Nanaimo clubs which have had a nasty record for behavior in their trips to Victoria in the past, Wednesday night bettered anything they have ever done in this respect.

Immediately after the final whistle sounded, ending the deciding game of the Island junior championship series, won by Victoria, 6-3, Nanaimo players ganged up on referee Jack Lockie.

One player started it by skating over to Lockie and taking a cut at him with a stick. Fortunately the player's aim was bad. Then three players backed Lockie up against the boards and began punching and pushing him.

BRAVE DISPLAY
Nanaimo players, not actively engaged in the assault, stood around their mates and prevented anyone from going to the referee's rescue. The fact that Lockie wore glasses did not deter the assailants.

Lockie finally saved himself by vaulting into the players' bench.

In the recent Island juvenile championship, a Nanaimo player, Jack Milburn, kicked Lockie in the shins with his skate. The same player slashed Doug Bamforth, of Victoria, across the mouth with his stick, knocking out two of Bamforth's teeth.

If Nanaimo wanted to find a real excuse for losing the game, they should have attacked a couple of players called Bob Fowler and Arnold Elliot. It was those two who beat Nanaimo, not the referee.

Victoria went into the game trailing by two goals in the two-game, total-goal series as a result of Nanaimo's 3-1 victory in the first game.

But with Fowler sniping two goals and two assists, and Elliot snaring two goals including the series winner, Victoria won the game 6-3 and the series 7-6.

Elliot scored the winner on a pass from Fowler with 11 seconds left in the game.

VICTORIA TO ACT
Ivan Temple, president of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association, announced following the game that Victoria may break off hockey relations with Nanaimo if the Up-Islanders continue to display the same disregard for elementary sportsmanship.

TIME OUT! By Jeff Keate

MONTREAL, March 13 (CP)—Maurice Richard came back from Florida to hockey territory Wednesday with a sun tan but still not free of his groin miseries.

Montreal Canadiens' right-winger, who has missed 21 games of the National Hockey League schedule, said he still feels the pains at times but wouldn't hazard a guess about playing hockey until he works out on the ice.

Richard has suffered from the groin injury since before Christmas. He tried going back into the game after brief rests but the trouble became aggravated.

FIGHT RESULTS
By the Associated Press
CHICAGO—Jimmy Carter, 194, New York, outpointed Luther Sawkins, 138, Chicago, 10 (no-time).

CLIPPERS SQUARE SERIES; Final Game Set Tonight

VERNON, B.C., March 13 (CP)—Nanaimo Clippers defeated Kelowna Packers 2-1 here Wednesday night to remain in the fight for shot at the British Columbia senior hockey championship.

The win squared their best-of-five semifinal series with Packers at two games apiece. Packers took the opener 6-1, lost the second 4-1 and then went wild in the third for a 7-1 triumph.

The fifth and deciding game of the series will be played tonight in Kelowna.

Clippers took a 2-0 lead in the first period and then staved off Packers until the halfway mark of the third period.

Eddie Brown opened the scoring for Nanaimo when he rifled a hard shot through a maze of legs to beat Jim McMeekin. Fernie Gruhn gathered in a rebound for the second. Nanaimo goal less than two minutes later.

Mike Durban counted Kelowna's lone goal as he deflected home a passout from the corner at the halfway mark of the third. Nanaimo's tight defensive work had a good deal to do with the outcome, with Kelowna held to a mere 13 shots during the evening. Clippers levelled 22 shots on McMeekin.

Summary
First Period—1, Nanaimo, Brown (Gruhn), 11:45; 2, Nanaimo, Gruhn (Lundmark, Kirk), 13:12. Penalties: Carlson, Pennell, Lowe.
Second Period—Scoring, none. Penalties: Lundmark, Penner.

Coast Cage Title To MacDonalds

Wally Yeaman's MacDonald's cagers captured the coast senior B women's basketball crown by trouncing Commodore Recreations, 74-36, in a sudden-death contest at Victoria High School Wednesday evening.

The win gave the local girls their fourth title this season, having won the Victoria, lower Island, and Vancouver Island titles previously.

MacDonald's will meet Trail for the British Columbia title either in Victoria or at the interior city.

Although the Vancouver squad showed some fine ball-handling, they could not keep up with MacDonald's, who were out-shooting and out-hustling them at every turn.

GAINING MOMENTUM
It took a while for the local team to get on the merry-go-round, but once started there was no stopping them. Yeaman's quintette led 8-6 at the quarter, increased their margin to 30-18 at the half and by the end of the third frame were running away to the tune of 49-27.

As usual, high scorer for the victors was Evelyn Slater, who chalked up no less than 27 points, on 12 field goals and three free throws. Cash Kennedy was next with 19 points.

Big gun for Commodore Recreation was Elma Lanki with 14 points.

In a preliminary exhibition Victoria High School Totems upset Dickinson & Dunn, Vancouver Island intermediate A men's champions, 32-31.

Line-ups follow:
Vancouver Commodore Recreations—Carol Armstrong 2, Isabella Brown, M. Pitsimmons 4, Mary Forsyth 4, Mary Holroyd 2, Andy Jackson, Gay Jarvis 2, Elma Lanki 14, Thelma Vickstrom, Gloria Matson 9, Total—36.
MacDonald's—Evelyn Slater 27, Cash Kennedy 19, Shirley Lewis, Lorraine McDonald 10, Pia Pickering 4, Jackie Sherman 8, Evelyn Slater 27, Joyce Thomas 10, Total—114.

The Bun-Feed of the Half Century

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, March 13 (CP)—North America's sports greats and near-greats will honor Canada's crippled children tonight.

Some of these sports-page heroes made the world's headlines when father was a boy, others are of comparative recent vintage. All are known to Canadian sports fans and a few to sports followers from Moscow to Moosonee.

They are here from various parts of the United States and Canada to attend the first annual sports celebrity dinner, sponsored by the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters' Association. It marks the opening of the Easter seals campaign for crippled children across the country and proceeds from the $25-a-plate dinner, about $10,000, will be

Canada's Retail Sales Up Slightly

OTTAWA, March 13 (CP) — Sales by Canada's retail stores increased slightly to $722,620,000 during January, up 2.7 per cent from $703,840,000 a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

It did not indicate what part of the gain was caused by price and what part by volume changes, but noted that the increase was the smallest monthly gain since October, 1950.

Fourteen of the 21 trades covered in the monthly survey showed gains, but seven others declined.

Hugh Herbert, 'Woo Woo' Man Of Movies, Dies

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 13 (AP) — Hugh Herbert, 66, the "Woo Woo" man of the movies, died Wednesday night at his home, with his friend and personal physician of many years, Dr. Victor Kovner, at his side.

Cause of death was not immediately ascertained. Herbert complained of being ill and called Dr. Kovner. Herbert died shortly after his arrival.

Herbert was an actor, comedian and playwright, and he had a hand in the script of some of the pictures in which he appeared. He came to Hollywood in 1927 from the Broadway stage, and joined Fox Movietone Studio to write and play in "Mind Your Business."

He was the author of "Lights of New York," one of the pioneer all-talking movies, and after this film he embarked on an acting career in Hollywood.

VANCOUVER, March 13 (CP) — The British Columbia Court of Appeal Wednesday, upheld the second conviction of Anthony Schlosser, 36, for the $5,000 armed robbery of a suburban branch of the Bank of Montreal a year ago.

The court also confirmed the 20-year sentence imposed for the crime by Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris.

Schlosser was first convicted, last year and was given 20 years by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

Court of appeal set aside that conviction and ordered a new trial. Schlosser was again convicted and sentenced to 20 years. He conducted his own appeal today.

Great Irish Tenor Sings With Trinder

Josef Locke, universally hailed as Ireland's greatest tenor, is one of the highlights of the "Royal Command Music Hall Varieties" which Tommy Trinder, Britain's No. 1 comedian, will bring to the Royal Theatre on March 17 in the course of his cross-Canada tour. Proceeds go to vocational training for handicapped British children.

Locke served with the Irish Guards during the last war and also served a later stint with the Royal Irish Constabulary for two years. Throughout both periods, he scored instant and then continuous popularity with his comrades, later appeared as a vaudeville single in the principal theatres of the British Isles, then starred in British pantomimes throughout the United Kingdom.

His talents were quickly recognized by George Formby, the famous Lancashire singing-comedian, and the latter's wife and business manager, Beryl Formby, giving Josef Locke a principal role in "The Starry Way," the big summer season show presented by George and Beryl Formby in Blackpool, England. Since that time, the great Irish tenor has never had to look back.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Go Shamrock Shopping
For St. Patrick's Day

By PENNY SAVER

Shure and begorra, 'tis St. Patrick's Day that will be here, come Monday.

Shopping Colleen's will certainly want to know about a couple of little items I found to mark this momentous day in the lives of the Irish.

A suitable token to send to an Irish friend on Monday would be a white hankie daintily embroidered in the corner with the symbolic shamrock.

Want another suggestion? O.K.! If you really wish to get into the swing of the St. Patrick's Day spirit, why not pin a bright green shamrock on your lapel?

The hankie is $1 and the shamrocks are 29 pennies.

Here's Some Clothes Talk

Yup! Here we go again. I just can't go for any length of time without talking about clothes. You really can't blame me when you think of the irresistible styles they are showing in town.

A real bargain are rayon-cotton boucle blouses with jaunty cap sleeves. They are dressy, have the open work at the neckline. Price is $3.98.

Saw what I thought were real lizard purses. Turned out they were imitation and priced at $5.25. Nicely finished, in a variety of colors, and a smart style. I'm sure you'd like one to complete your spring outfit.

Oh, yes! There is another blouse style that took my fancy. It is nylon tricot and the smartest thing I've seen in a long time. It's buttoned right to the neck and the front was accented with soft rows of frilling. One row was repeated at the cuff of the long sleeve. They are carrying $6.95 for this stylish blouse.

Come spring we always look for something perky in the sports line to put on our heads. A versatile little number is the blue-denim visor-cap. They are as perky as can be and are only 98 pennies.

That's enough about clothes for one day. I'll keep my eyes open and let you know about other bargains I come across. You might like to add them to your wardrobe.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Give Your Skin A Break
With Good Care At Night

Hands are likely to show a woman's age. In fact the hands very often look older than the face because the latter has been treated to more pampering in the use of oily creams.

We wash our hands more often than we do our faces and even the use of hand lotion afterwards does not take the place of a rich cream. We cannot go about our daily tasks with our hands rubbed in grease and it is very unpleasant to have them stick to the sheets at night. The night hand mitt which is worn while sleeping, after the hands have been thoroughly massaged in cream is a boon.

There are several of these on the market. One recent one is very frilly and pretty and is washable. These small beauty rituals do make a big difference in the way a woman looks. Sometimes when we think of all of the things we should do along this line it seems that we would have time for nothing else.

However it is not so much a question of time as of habit. Two minutes, if you have no longer, given to hand massage before retiring and the use of hand mitts will make a pretty difference in your hands.

It has always been a question as to how a woman can look pretty while sleeping and yet take care of a dry skin. The mitts take care of the hand question, a gay ribbon about the head keeps the hair somewhat in place, and there are oils which practically disappear into the skin, also a cream nightstick. Even if you do not use cream or oil on your face and neck at night you can pat eye cream about the eyes without an unpleasant effect.

Remember the skin weathers just like an old boot unless it is given care and even though the underlying foundation of skin beauty depends on health and fine nourishment, we also need this outer oiling.

Elbows are another point of disadvantage. Thank heavens for little elbow mitts. Whenever you see a woman who looks years younger than she is you can depend on it that she had paid the price for it in small daily beauty rituals. It is worth it because women love to look as young as they feel. Mental attitude enters into this in a drastic way but never forget the old boot and pay penance with the gold cream jar.

Avocado is delicious in hot dishes but one very important thing to remember is to cook it only long enough to warm it, otherwise its delicate flavor will be spoiled. We recommend baking the half shells in a 325-degree oven for only 15 minutes. If it is to be part of a hot mixture, then add it shortly before covering.

Leading Canadian Women Tell Ways
They Watch Pennies In Food Budgets

Editor's note: The Canadian Press asked heads of a number of leading women's organizations for their views on how women are meeting the increased cost of living in their own homes and what organizations are doing to combat rising prices. Their replies have been incorporated in a series of articles of which this is the first.

By RAY REX

Canadian Press Staff Writer Home-making, 1952 style, has become a penny-watching business, most of it concerned with food budgeting. Leaders of Canada's largest women's organizations agree on that point.

The heads of several of these associations have offered a variety of suggestions about the cost of living, and how they are coping with it personally.

"We all know that we have to stretch meat by using it with a cheap filling such as bread crumbs," says Miss Anna Templeton of St. John's, Nfld., organization secretary of the jubilee guilds of Newfoundland and Labrador.

Mrs. Hugh Summers of Font-hill, Ont., has found a home freezer one of the most economical ways to preserve food. Mrs. Summers is president of the 55-year-old Federated Women's Institutes of Canada.

A volume of tips—including several family recipes—has been offered by the leaders of organizations which include the Dominion Women's Association Council of the United Church of Canada, the Hadassah Organization of Canada, Les Cercles des Femmes of Quebec, the Canadian Association of Consumers and the National Council of Women.

The National Council of Women five months ago launched a Canada-wide thrift campaign to get women to save intelligently. Together with other organizations, and particularly with the C.A.C., the Council has distributed innumerable household tips and recipes aimed at economy.

The council slogan of the drive is "Buy only what you need, not what you want." It has introduced recipes such as the following for quick beef stew:

One pound hamburger, or left-over meat, put through the grinder; two tablespoons fat; two tablespoons flour; one cup tomato juice; one cup diced cooked vegetables; one cup vegetable water; salt and pepper to taste.

Brown the hamburger or left-over meat in hot fat. Add flour and brown slightly. Add cup of tomato juice, vegetables, seasoning and vegetable water. Cook, stirring constantly, for 10 minutes.

Group Allocates Sum

Five hundred dollars was donated toward the church building fund when Women's Association to Ganges United Church met recently at the home of Mrs. William Byers. Mrs. C. Zenkie presided. Plans were made for a St. Patrick's Day tea to be held in Mahon Hall Friday, convened by Mrs. Zenkie. New members welcomed were Mesdames George Lowe, J. Catto, A. J. MacWilliam and J. E. Foster. Mrs. Byers and Miss Mary Lees served refreshments.

Mrs. E. P. Laycock Returns

An honor guest at the annual meeting of the diocesan board of Anglican Church at Memorial Hall is Mrs. E. P. Laycock, who arrived in Victoria with her husband, Archdeacon Laycock, from England, on Tuesday. Archdeacon and Mrs. Laycock, formerly of Victoria, have spent the past 19 years in the British Isles. They are staying at the Angela Hotel.

Another honor guest is Mrs. G. B. Corke from the Rupertsland Diocese. She is also formerly of this diocese.

Mrs. Vernon Richardson is the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Richardson, Sooke.

Mrs. C. Rupert Wickson has returned to her home on Lull Street following a three-week visit to southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Forster, Newport Avenue, have returned from an extended vacation in southern California.

Mrs. F. D. Sutherland and Miss Penny Bell-Irving, who were the recent guests of Mrs. Sutherland's sister, Mrs. E. S. Baylis, View Royal, have returned to their home in Vancouver.

Ladies' spring opening at the Victoria Golf Club will take place Tuesday, with a luncheon at noon, followed by nine-hole foursomes for active members.

Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Bunt, who have been guests of Mrs. A. G. Fisher, Musgrave Street, have returned to their Vancouver home. Dr. Bunt was guest-speaker at the recent anniversary dinner at Oak Bay United Church.

Miss Dora Lancaster, who has come from Whaletown, V.I., to attend sessions of the B.C. Diocesan Board of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada, at Memorial Hall, this week, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lancaster, McKenzie Avenue. She is returning to her mission work at Whaletown, on Saturday.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Show Movies—At a meeting of St. George's Altar Guild, Ganges, held recently, with Mrs. W. C. Best presiding, it was announced that a series of moving pictures of English scenes will be shown by Archdeacon G. H. Holmes Monday evening in parish room. Proceeds from a recent tea, amounting to $32, were sent to St. Mark's Chancel Guild to help defray the church's expenses. Refreshments were served by Mrs. G. H. Holmes.

Donations—At a recent meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Salt Spring Island Canadian Legion, it was voted to send $5 to the honorarium fund for Mrs. D. McLennan, provincial secretary, and $25 to the school board for new equipment for Mahon Hall. Mrs. Colin Mount presided and it was decided to send $100 this year to various hospitals and the same amount for "Care" parcels. Elected were Mrs. P. Cartwright, local hospital; Mrs. A. Inglis, Veterans' Hospital; Mrs. G. Lowe, overseas parcels; Mrs. C. Mouat, welfare; Mrs. J. Catto, blanket; Mrs. J. Napier, auditor; Mrs. Jack C. Smith, press; Mesdames E. Booth, Mac Mouat, J. Springfield, G. Heinekey and W. Treford, refreshments. Mrs. Howard Deyell will convene a fete at the home of Mrs. B. Acland late this spring.

Card Party Sale—At the recent meeting of Canadian Daughters' League, Assembly No. 5, plans were discussed for a card tea party and home-cooking sale in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Company, March 27, at 2. Tea conveners are Mesdames V. Milburn and L. Kinsey and card convener, Mrs. W. D. Morgan. Mrs. G. H. Gardiner presided and officers were elected for coming year. Installation will take place April 8. Mrs. H. Hewitt spoke on "Educational System in Canada." Recent project, "Tale of the Shirt," realized $19.25. Proceeds went to Solarium Shower of Dimes. A convention practise will be held at next meeting, Tuesday at 7.

Toastmistress To Compete In Seattle

Mrs. Marie Pickell, uttering a stirring cry against anti-vivisection, under the title "The Dumb Cry for Succor," was unanimously judged winner of annual speaking contest held recently by Victoria Toastmistress Club. Mrs. Pickell will travel to Seattle this week-end to present the Victoria Club in the Area Contest sponsored by Toastmistress Council No. 2 of the Northwest Region, to be held at the New Washington Hotel, Saturday.

Other members taking part in the local contest were Mrs. Irene Warren, whose subject was "The Family Court"; Mrs. Vera Carter, "The Saver of Life"; Mrs. Mollie Foxall, "Public Health"; and Mrs. Norma Smith, "It's Time for Action."

Judges at the contest were Frank Hunter, Bert Sutton and Miss Marjorie Press. Club members, Mesdames H. Simpson and M. Naysmith, were timers and Misses M. Harness and C. Ellis, were tallies, assisted by Bill Broadly.

P.T.A. Notes

Tolmie—There will be a meeting of Tolmie P.T.A. Monday at 8 in school auditorium.

Cordova Bay—Pupils of Cordova Bay School will present a family night in the church hall, March 21, at 7.45. It was announced at a recent meeting of Cordova Bay P.T.A. There will be a play, dancing and singing.

Salt Spring—Sponsored by Salt Spring Island P.T.A. and convened by Mesdames L. G. Mouat, Gordon Parson, E. Ashlee and S. Kitchener, a box social and dance was held in Salt Spring Island School. Music was supplied by Mrs. W. Hauge and by recordings. Cards and games were also played. Approximately $10 was realized.

Monterey—Art Stott will speak on the layman's view of education at a meeting of Monterey P.T.A. Monday at 8.15 in the school auditorium. Members will take groceries, books, white elephant articles and children's good used clothing to be used for Easter carnival on April 9.

Frank Hobbs—A St. Patrick's Day tea will be sponsored by Frank Hobbs School P.T.A. Monday at 3, in the school auditorium. Proceeds will assist the school library fund. Entertainment for the afternoon will include Irish folk songs by students of Grade VII, dances by pupils of Adeline Duncan School of Dancing, ice cream and a nursery for younger children will be provided. In charge will be Mesdames C. L. Williams, J. C. Halliday, W. Woods, A. Sullivan, E. G. Sommer, A. Sanderson, H. Gonder, S. W. Mawle, W. D. Osborne, A. B. Russ and J. Harding.

Sooke—Monthly dance of Sooke and Milnes Landing P.T.A. was successfully staged in the community hall dining room recently with Sooke orchestra playing old-time tunes. A Happy Valley quartet of square dancers were visitors and gave an exhibition of square dancing similar to the one which won them honors at the recent P.T.A. Mardi Gras. Arrangers for the dance were Jim Martin, master of ceremonies; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Clowes, Mrs. Louie Comeau, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jones, refreshments, and Miss Barbara Clowes, door receipts.

Life Membership Presented at Annual Meeting

Mrs. S. H. Partridge, second from the right, corresponding secretary of the B.C. Diocesan Board of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada, was presented with a life membership at annual meeting Wednesday. President, Mrs. R. O. Taylor, second from left, gave the life membership; Mrs. Claude Gardiner, left, presented the certificate and Mrs. H. Earle, the pin. Since the last annual meeting 13 new life members have been welcomed by the board.

Reports Show Schools and Missions Helped, Members, Work Increased

Dorcas secretary-treasurer, Mrs. B. P. Harding, at annual meeting of the British Columbia Anglican Diocesan Board of the Woman's Auxiliary at Memorial Hall yesterday spoke of needs of St. Michael's Indian School at Alert Bay.

Six hundred and seventy-nine articles for boys were supplied to that school during the year, she said, also 737 for girls, a number of small toilet articles, bedding, toys and gifts. Total amount spent on the school was $1,411.76.

Hospital sales were sent to Columbia Coast Mission and the Preventorium at Alert Bay and 22 bales of used clothing shipped within the diocese and to the Cariboo and the Prairies. Eight bales of Christmas gifts were sent out containing 385 toys; church furnishings were supplied to small churches and missions. Total value of the work for the year amounted to $2580.36.

Mrs. S. W. Tucker recording secretary, noted 138 branches now in the diocese with a membership of 4,480, an increase of 416 over the previous year.

Extra Cent secretary, Mrs. G. W. Liffon, reported a total of $815.21, an increase of $119.08.

Speaks of Work Up-Island

President, Mrs. R. O. Taylor, in her annual address to the diocesan board spoke of encouragement in increased membership and expansion of work.

She spoke of the decision to carry work up-Island through deaneeries at Cowichan and Comox; the forming of the council of evening branches; the cutting centres opened by the Dorcas Society up-Island and the hospital visiting undertaken by the social service department.

The president also stressed her pride in the three young women of the diocese, who, during the past year, went out into home missions work.

Mrs. R. Little, who, with her husband Archdeacon Little, formerly worked in the northern part of Alberta in the Diocese of Athabasca, told the meeting of early days there, when the Hudson's Bay brigades went north from Fort Garry and brought back word of places where the Gospel was needed, and a roving missionary was sent out from St. Andrew's Church on the Red River.

She also described the work she and her husband did in opening hostels for boys and girls of Central European parentage, coming from country far north of Edmonton to attend high schools at Athabaskan Landing.

Plan Tea—Tentative plans for a silver tea to be held late in April were made at a recent meeting of H.M.C.S. Beacon Hill Chapter, I.O.D.E. The meeting was held in I.O.D.E. rooms.

from last year. Seventy-five dollars had been voted to Comox and $100 to Columbia Coast Mission toward a mission worker's salary, she said.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

Bobby Coon had slept most of the winter. He hadn't slept as hard, as deeply, as had Johnny Chuck, or Nimbleheels the Jumping Mouse, or Grandfather Frog, or Old Mr. Toad, or some of the other winter sleepers. He had wakened two or three times during the winter, and had even come out and exercised his legs a little. Now that winter was about over, Bobby Coon didn't feel sleepy. That is, he didn't feel like going into the long sleep of mid-winter. It was all right to take long naps each day, but he liked to be out and about at night.

So it was that Bobby did a lot of looking around. One night this led him over to a lonesome part of the Green Forest. It was a place he had never visited before; he was curious about it. You see, Bobby Coon has his share of curiosity.

"I'll just look around and see if I can find a nice hollow tree here," said he, talking to himself. "Hollow trees are getting scarce. One never knows when one may need to move to a new home, so it's just as well to know just where all the hollow trees of a neighborhood are."

As he spoke he happened to look up, and there high in a tree he saw a nest, a big nest. It might be the nest of one of the Squirrel folk. It might be an old nest of Blacky the Crow, or of one of the Hawk family.

"I'll just curl up in that nest and have a good nap and sun-bath at the same time," said Bobby to himself. Bobby didn't mind the climb. He is a very good climber. He is very much at home in trees. Half-way up this tree he stopped in a crotch where a big limb branched out from the trunk. It was a very comfortable place to sit. He had even slept in a crotch like that. He stopped now to listen to a rather harsh voice. It was crying. "Thief, thief, thief!"

Bobby grinned. "I wonder if Sammy Jay means me," said he to himself. "I don't see the blue-coated rascal, but that doesn't mean he doesn't see me. Ah! There he is!"

Sure enough, Sammy Jay came flying in his direction. He stopped in a neighboring tree and began to scream, "Thief, thief, thief!"

"Hush your noise," growled Bobby. "I'm not stealing anything. I'm not even bothering anybody. I'm just going up to that old nest for a nap, so supposing you just go about your own business."

"You're making a mistake!" cried Sammy.

"What kind of a mistake?" Bobby Coon wanted to know.

"If you keep on, you'll find out and you'll be sorry," retorted Sammy.

"Sorry for what?" asked Bobby. "Sorry for the mistake you've made," retorted Sammy. Then he took to his wings and disappeared.

CATS CATCHING UP WITH 'CATS'

Please Stop Cougars Coming, Plead Airmen

OTTAWA, March 13 (CP).—The R.C.A.F. has enough cougars; thank you. Originally, the service wanted one cougar, as mascot for No. 410 (Cougar) Squadron, now in Britain with No. 1 Canadian Fighter Squadron at North Luf-fenham.

It has one cougar in Ottawa and another waiting shipment from Calgary, and a spokesman said today that "offers or rumors of offers of cougars are coming in from all over Canada."

"We appreciate them very much," he added, "but already we've got all the cougars we can handle."

Both animals will eventually be placed in the London Zoo, where their keep of 7s 6d weekly will be provided by officers of 410 Squadron.

There are now 400,000 Indians in the United States, compared to about 250,000 around the close of the 19th century.

Civil Defense Crews Study Fire-Fighting

First civil defense classes for auxiliary fire-fighters are expected to start next month.

Defense co-ordinator Leonard Hatcher said he will shoot for an eventual 300 volunteers but needs 100 to start the first classes.

No age limit for volunteers has been set but they must be physically fit, Hatcher said.

HADES BREAKS ABOUT HIS EARS

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., March 13 (AP).—H. L. Parr was sketching his conception of the devil at his minister's request. The latter wanted to use the sketch at a religious meeting.

As Parr worked away, a rainstorm broke outside. Lightning struck a tree, blasted a three-foot hole over a telephone box outside the house and then went to work on the house.

The telephone box outside the house was hurled 150 feet. The fuse box for lights was melted. Parr's water pump was burned out, a barbed wire fence toppled and a hole knocked in the ceiling.

Parr is now sketching an angel. "The devil," he said, "can go to."

Masonic Choir Sings To Help Organ Fund

The Victoria Masonic Choir under the baton of C. C. Warren will present a recital of sacred music Sunday afternoon, March 16, at 3 p.m. at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Assisting artists will be Mrs. W. H. Wilson, soprano soloist, and George Peaker at the console of the Longfield memorial organ. A collection will be taken for the organ fund.
